INTRODUCTION

Prices affect all sections of society and as such price Statistics are regarded as most important economic data reflecting changes in the economy of a country. Their influence is on a wide range of economic activities and a constant watch on prices become necessary for the operation and regulation of economic policies as well as for the purpose of Planning and Policy formulation.

The price statistics are extremely useful in a number of ways as will be clear from the following points:-

1. Price Statistics are useful to the Govt. and the private employers for adjusting wages and salaries of the employees.
2. Price data are needed to control prices of commodities.
3. Price data are needed in order to evaluate the terms of trade.
4. Price data reveal the inflationary and deflationary pressures and help in taking suitable corrective action.
5. These are useful in evolving a suitable price policy.
